Which three statements are true about Automatic Workload Repository (AWR)?

- A. The AWR data is stored in memory and in the database.
- B. The snapshots collected by AWR are used by the self-tuning components in the database
- C. AWR contains system wide tracing and logging information.
- D. All AWR tables belong to the SYSTEM schema.
- E. AWR computes time model statistics based on time usage for activities, which are displayed in the v$SYS time model and V$SESS_TIME_MODEL views.

Answer: A,B,C

Explanation:

* A fundamental aspect of the workload repository is that it collects and persists database performance data in a manner that enables historical performance analysis.

The mechanism for this is the AWR snapshot. On a periodic basis, AWR takes a "snapshot" of the current statistic values stored in the database instance's memory and persists them to its tables residing in the SYSAUX tablespace.

* AWR is primarily designed to provide input to higherlevel components such as automatic tuning algorithms and advisors, but can also provide a wealth of information for the manual tuning process.
